support phone chat time recording video recording of message audiounimnarubo Â· Mr. Wong's review of Tantalize 5 is outstanding.Q: Finding the closest point on the gradient Given the 2d-transformed point $T(x,y)$, I'm trying to find the point (x_0,y_0) on the gradient ∇w that is the closest to the transformed point (or vice-versa) using iterations. What I know from the gradient $$\nabla w = \frac{\partial w}{\partial x} \frac{\partial x}{\partial x_0} + \frac{\partial w}{\partial y} \frac{\partial y}{\partial x_0} + \frac{\partial w}{\partial x} \frac{\partial x}{\partial y_0} + \frac{\partial w}{\partial y} \frac{\partial y}{\partial y_0}$$
 Is that if we perform this transformation $T(x_0,y_0)$ where (x_0,y_0) is on the gradient, then we can use any linear mapping and the result will be the closest point on the gradient (x_0,y_0) . So, for example, if $T(x,y) = [x_0 + ax, y_0 + by]$, I can choose $$\begin{cases} x_0 = 0 \\ x = x_0 \\ a = \frac{1}{x_0} \\ a=0 \end{cases}$$ and get $(x,y) = (0,b)$ as the closest point on the gradient. However, this would be tedious to apply to every other $T(x,y)$ I may be applying. Is there a better way to find (x_0,y_0) that is on the gradient ∇w and that also works for any arbitrary $T(x,y)$? Thanks in advance. A: I presume the gradient in question is the one for the problem $u=f(T(x,y))$ given by $f(t)=\frac{\partial u}{\partial x}$

$\frac{\partial T}{\partial}$ downloads Any of this should be possible, although that part is a little more tricky. You just have to find my email address on Google and email me. It's a private message on my Google accounts forums. All the information I have on this topic is right there in that thread. I will be very sad to hear you never get your phone fixed. Cobra Viper 7 Killer - New.docx or Email me I can also email you directly with all the information. It will say where it came from. Now you can show it to your friends to show them that they are wrong. A search on Google, Yahoo, or Bing or whatever shows it is an open.docx file with your phone number on it. If they ask and it says you used it to call our company, say this: "I will be happy to prove this to you, as Google on my phone said I used it to call your company and we are connected now." If they ask and it says you used it to send a text message to our company, say this: "I will be happy to prove this to you"
